VOL.7

CANADIAN SENIOR MEN CLINCH PLAY OFF SPOT IN WIN AGAINST SWEDEN

The Canadian Senior Men's team stands at 8 and 0 after beating Sweden yesterday. They meet the Netherlands Friday morning at 8:30 am.

The usually stoic Armitage visibly loosened when it was clear his team would overtake Sweden.

"The 5-2 score started to dawn on me, and I definitely knew by the 7th end he [Swedish Skip Karl Nordlund] wasn't going to steal enough to win," said Armitage.

The Canuck team plans to win its next game cleanly without tie-breaks. Armitage said they want to head into the final cleanly in the top spot.

"It solves all problems in order to make it in as the first place team," he said.

FREDERICTON - The Grant Harvey Centre was packed with fans yesterday for the much-anticipated draw between curling powerhouses Canada and Sweden. The match went down at high noon, and when the smoke cleared after a barrage of shots, Canada came out on top 5-2.

"It felt good," said Canadian senior men's Skip Rob Armitage. "We needed the win to clinch a playoff spot," he said.

The Swedes have been tough contenders throughout the championships, standing 8-0 at the end of playing on Wednesday. The game against Canada yesterday was their first loss.

Canadian Skip Rob Armitage and Swedish Skip Karl Nordlund talk curling over a beer after squaring off against each other at the Freddy Worlds.

Able to breathe a little easier after getting past the tough Swedes, the Canadians don't intend to let up.

"We will go just as hard against the Netherlands tomorrow as we did against Sweden today," said Armitage.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY JACK!!!

Young Freddy Worlds volunteer extraordinaire (and amateur curler) Jack Smeltzer-McCausland, turns 15 today.

Jack is crazy about the Worlds. He even has his mother stop by for a few minutes on their drive to school before classes start in the mornings.

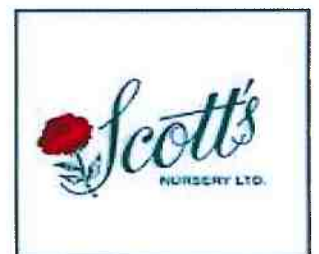

We appreciate your dedication Jack. Have a great birthday!
